

EXTRADITION

Convention signed at San Salvador May 12, 1873, extending time for exchange of ratifications of convention of May 23, 1870

Ratified by El Salvador October 28, 1873

Senate advice and consent to ratification February 9, 1874

Ratified by the President of the United States February 16, 1874

Ratifications exchanged at Washington March 2, 1874

Entered into force March 2, 1874

Proclaimed by the President of the United States March 4, 1874

18 Stat. 796; Treaty Series 311

The United States of America and the Republic of Salvador, desiring to extend the time fixed for the exchange of the ratifications of the treaty between the United States and that republic for the surrender of criminals, signed at San Salvador on the twenty-third day of May, A.D. 1870,¹ have resolved to conclude a convention for that purpose, and have invested with full powers, the President of the United States, Thomas Biddle, Minister Resident of the United States to Salvador, the President of the Republic of Salvador, Señor Doctor Don Dario Gonzalez, the Minister of the Interior and Public Instruction; who, after reciprocal communication of their said full powers found in good and due form, have agreed upon the following articles, to wit:

ARTICLE I

The time fixed for the exchange of the ratifications of the aforesaid treaty between the United States and the Republic of Salvador for the surrender of criminals, signed at San Salvador on the twenty-third of May, A.D. one thousand eight hundred and seventy, (1870) is hereby extended to a period not exceeding twelve (12) months from the date of this convention, or sooner if possible.

ARTICLE II

The present convention to receive the ratification of the President of the United States, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate thereof, and by the President of the Republic of Salvador, with the approval of the

¹ TS 309, ante, p. 474.